WHAT IS SLCAN?

Sustainable Labs Canada (SLCan) was created in 2013 with the goal of fostering national and international cooperation in the laboratory community.

Since 2013, SLCan has grown across Canada and internationally, with local Chapters in Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Ottawa, and Atlantic Canada.

The Montreal Chapter supports the local laboratory community by organizing collaborative events, which include workshops, seminars, presentations, and networking events.

WHY FOCUS ON LABS?

Laboratory Facilities require a large amount of energy and resources to provide a safe and productive environment for researchers to carry out their work. A typical laboratory consumes 5 to 10 times more energy and water than an office building per square foot. While labs are inherently resource intensive there have been many novel developments in facility design and operations that provide opportunities to reduce energy impact and create more sustainable environments.

Collectively, we have a responsibility and vested interest to ensure that your facilities are built and operate in a safe, efficient and sustainable manner. The SLCan community will provide you with the opportunity to collaborate, learn and share knowledge with other owners and like-minded individuals on design, construction and operational aspects of your facilities.
